

Transfer to HU University of Applied Sciences

Permit holders of a residence permit for study purposes

You currently have a Dutch residence permit for study purposes which was applied for by another educational institute in the Netherlands. If you wish to transfer to our university, HU will need to assess whether you meet the requirements for HU to take over sponsorship of your residence permit.

This means you will need to prove to HU that you meet the requirements for a residence permit for study purposes. If we are able to assess that you meet the requirements, we will inform the IND that you will be transferring to HU.

We need a complete 'immigration' application from you for which you will receive an invitation to upload immigration documents, the Immigration Questionnaire, and a Study Progress Overview from all the previous Dutch educational institutes you were a student at.

You will need to upload these documents together with the requested financial and immigration documents.

When your enrolment has terminated officially at your current university they are obliged to inform the IND that you are no longer registered as a student with them. It is therefore very important you are aware of our application procedures and deadline dates to ensure continuation of your residence status for study.

If your current university has informed the IND that you are not a student with them anymore, it is possible that your residence permit was cancelled, and we will need to apply for a new residence permit on your behalf. You will need to pay the IND application fee.

If you are currently still studying at another university, and we are taking over the sponsorship of your residence permit, and if your residence permit is still valid on the start date of your programme, you do not need to pay the IND application fee.

If we need to apply for an extension of your valid residence permit, because it will expire soon, you need to pay the IND application fee.

Please find more information on the immigration procedure and deadlines on our website.
